HANSAMURANO COLLECTION EXEMPLIFIES ELEGANCE AND PERFORMANCE FOR THE BATH

NORCROSS, Ga. (August 2007) - The award winning Hansamurano series, developed and designed by Bruno Sacco and Reinhard Zetsche, transforms glass and chrome into a sleek line of performance-driven water sculptures for the bath. The Hansamurano collection showcases a breathtaking gentle veil of unfettered water that pours freely across a curved glass dish.

"The newest addition to the Hansamurano collection is the Hansamurano E, featuring the same alluring design elements, yet coupled with the convenience of sensor technology," says Sherry Foster, technical manager for Hansa and KWC AMERICA.

The Hansamurano E faucet features a proximity sensor and a manually operated temperature preset mechanism. When waiving your hand over or touching the faucet, water will begin to flow. Flow automatically stops when the pre-set running time elapses or when the sensor is activated a second time.

The Hansamurano line includes two faucet sizes, a matching shower head and tub spout, and a complete suite of accessories to outfit the luxury bath. The single-lever lavatory basin mixer also features flexible connection hoses for easy installation and a flow rate of 2.2 gpm at 60 PSI.
