CREATE A BATHROOM WATER EXPERIENCE IN STYLE Bruno Sacco's HANSASTELA Introduces Luxury to the Modern Bathroom

NORCROSS, Ga. (April 2008) – Bruno Sacco continues to advance technology with uncompromising design in the bathroom with the creation of the Hansastela. Due to enormous success, new for 2008, Hansa will expand its finish portfolio to include brushed nickel. Sacco, the former director of design for Mercedes-Benz, is also the mastermind behind Hansa's multi-award winning Hansamurano and Hansacanyon.

"Designer Bruno Sacco has developed another Hansa masterpiece," says Chris Marshall, president and CEO of Hansa and KWC AMERICA. "The sleek joy-stick controlling the laminar flow allows consumers to experience water in style."

The basic cylindrical body of the Hansastela represents a charming contrast to the distinctively angular water spout. A uniquely designed jet forms a wide and soft surge, creating a pure and natural water flow effect. Whether in the shower or bathroom, the Hansastela offers unparalleled style.

The Hansastela bathroom collection includes a single basin or wall mounted lever mixer, tub spout, showerhead and accessories.

For more information on the Hansastela or other Hansa products, call 678.334.2121 or visit www.hansa.us.com.
